LETTER FROM THE CHIEF AND VICE CHIEF

Brothers,

2010 marked a very important milestone in Scouting's history; we celebrated the 100th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America and established a strong foundation for Scouting to enter its second century. The Order of the Arrow played an instrumental role in Scouting's success during its centennial year. Scouting's National Honor Society touched the lives of Arrowmen across the country, filling them with an unexplainable, everlasting commitment and passion for the timeless values of Scouting. Driven by Brotherhood, Cheerfulness and Service, the Order of the Arrow helped pioneer Scouting's trail into its next century.

The Order stood at the forefront of Scouting's centennial celebrations, culminating with the 2010 National Scout Jamboree. The OA Service Corps proved, through cheerful service, that the principles of servant leadership are alive within the hearts of every Arrowman. The central attraction of the Jamboree – The Mysterium Compass – reached out to motivate tomorrow's leaders through an innovative, interactive, augmented reality game, which challenged Scouts with a series of ethical choices. The American Indian Village offered realistic and inspiring pow wows while also promoting rank advancement by teaching Indian Lore Merit Badge. Finally, the PACEsetters educated the Scouting community about personal fitness, nutrition, and healthy lifestyle through exciting challenges.

With pride, humility, and honor, the Order of the Arrow bears witness through its accomplishments to the greatness of Scouting. The following pages detail our cheerful service, celebrations and successes during 2010. We certainly hope that you enjoy it!

It was a great honor and privilege to serve the Order of the Arrow and Scouting this past year, and we look forward to seeing the OA fulfill its ongoing mission as Scouting's National Honor Society.

In Brotherhood,

Brad Lichota
National Chief

Will Swingle
National Vice Chief

UNIT, CHAPTER AND LODGE SUPPORT

The national Order of the Arrow committee is committed to supporting the local efforts of units, chapters and lodges. To that end the unit, chapter and lodge support subcommittee was established to provide a wide range of resources. These resources are available on the official OA website www.oa-bsa.org

Adviser Minutes:

At the end of many chapter and lodge meetings advisers give a short “food for thought” message. These adviser minutes can be inspirational, thought-provoking, or informative. Advisers from across the country were asked to submit minutes they have used. The 36 best are posted on-line as a resource for unit leaders and OA advisers.

Best Practices:

Chapters and lodges are often the engines of experimentation and innovation, working through trial and error to improve their training, processes, events and communication. By sharing this collective wisdom, gained through time and experience, the unit, chapter and lodge support subcommittee hopes that every chapter and lodge will be able to benefit from the proven success of other chapters and lodges.

These best practices are available at www.oa-bsa.org/resources/lodge/bestpractices

OA Camp Coordinator:

The OA Camp Coordinator (OACC) is an Arrowman who cheerfully serves both the camp and the lodge during the summer. Responsible for the various lodge programs at camp, the OACC is the “go-to” person for all Order of the Arrow related questions and program. A wide range of support materials for the council, lodge, and Scout who takes on this position can be found at www.oa-bsa.org/resources/lodge/oacampcrd.htm

Twenty-two outstanding chapter meeting ideas can be found at www.oa-bsa.org

36 of the best adviser minutes from across America are now available on-line.

OA Troop/Team Representative:

The unit position of OA Troop/Team Representative was significantly refined in 2010. The changes clarify the duties of this position and refocus the role of this Scout to better serve the goals of the unit, chapter, lodge and council, with special emphasis on two-way communication between the unit and the OA. Important changes to the duties include:

- Making at least one high adventure presentation to the unit annually,
- Coordinating the Ordeal induction process for newly elected candidates,
- Participating in unit members' paths to Brotherhood,
- Leading community service projects for the unit, and
- Advocating environmental stewardship and Leave No Trace camping.

Quality Chapter Meeting Ideas:

These program-helps present successful programs, useful topics and tips, similar to the Cub Scout Program Helps used by unit leaders to better prepare for regular meetings. Twenty-two of the highest quality program ideas are posted on the official OA website (www.oa-bsa.org) These ideas can assist everyone from the newest chapter chief to the most experienced adviser in providing their chapters with great meeting programs.

Eagle Scout Recognition:

A congratulatory letter to new Eagle Scouts has been made available. Signed by the national chief and other national OA leaders, it is now available nationwide to recognize any new Eagle Scout.

New for 2011:

Currently in development for rollout within the next 12 to 15 months are:

- A chapter operations guide: a master resource for chapter leaders;

• A new and expanded OA Troop/Team Representative program, this will enhance the existing material, including suggestions for Arrowmen who seek to better support and help their units through servant leadership, and unit/Scoutmaster recognition;

• Guidelines and resources geared to Arrowmen improving their camps through various camp maintenance and capital improvement projects;

• Revisions to the Guide to Inductions, updated Lodge Leadership Development sessions on inductions and ceremonies, and new instructional video resources for ceremonial teams; and

• More resources in support of Cub Scouting, the OA Mentoring program, Arrowmen Sharing Knowledge (ASK), and expanded conference calls to support the advisers of OA lodges.

Scouting at the grass-roots level - in units, districts and councils – is where the Order of the Arrow best works its "magic" with youth; and the Order's program and resources to support the local level of the organization is the focus of the unit, chapter and lodge support subcommittee.

In 2010 a new OA Camp Coordinator role was created to assist with OA programs at summer camp.

A congratulatory letter signed by the national chief and vice chief is now available for Eagle Scouts.

Support of Scouting

The Order of the Arrow's support for Scouting remained focused on service to local council camps, Friends of Scouting campaigns, national high adventure bases, camperships and scholarships. In celebration of Scouting's 100th anniversary the OA also provided four major programs at the 2010 National Scout Jamboree.

Order of the Arrow High Adventure

The first Scout camp at Brownsea Island was not an accident of history, it was held at that location with the purposeful intent to use the outdoor program to instill in boys the lessons of Scouting. Baden-Powell knew well the allure of the outdoors, of the wilderness, and its transformative powers in shaping the lives of young men.

For the past 16 seasons the Order of the Arrow has offered the ultimate extension of B-P's vision of using the outdoors to transform the lives of Arrowmen through its high adventure programs at the Philmont Scout Ranch and Boundary Waters Canoe Area. These programs utilize patrol methods, small crews under the direction of a trained foreman, while learning advanced Leave No Trace principles, conservation, and crew cohesion. Through periods of reflection during the program each participant makes a lifetime commitment to servant leadership.

2010 marked the fifth consecutive summer that the Order of the Arrow's high adventure programs were filled to capacity providing 321 Arrowmen with an unparalleled outdoor experience. These Arrowmen provided 15, 592 man hours of service to the Philmont Scout Ranch, Boundary Waters Canoe Area and Quetico Provincial Park.

The Philmont OA Trail Crew had 158 participants who completed 3,097 feet of new trail, three switchbacks, three rock retaining walls, and 205 square feet of additional rock construction, bringing the total trail completion in Chandler Canyon since 2007 to 16,190 feet (3.06 miles). In 2010, three of the trail crew foremen were able to complete Leave No Trace Master Educator certification, allowing them to train and certify participants as LNT Trainers. In partnership with Philmont's Conservation Department, extensive training in new methods and equipment drastically improved the safety and effectiveness of crews this season.

The OA Wilderness Voyage celebrated its 12th season of service to the Boundary Waters Canoe Area and its second season of service in the Quetico Provincial Park. These programs, based at the Charles L. Sommers Canoe Base, had 163 Arrowmen complete 7,832 man hours of service.

The OA Wilderness Voyage program completed trail clearing and maintenance work on the historic Kekekabic hiking trail, the Indian Sioux River's Elm portage, and Little Loon Lake to Slim Lake portage. Additionally 251 feet of "turnpike" were completed, these are raised trails built to alleviate resource damage caused by use of the portage.

The Canadian Odyssey focused its efforts in the northern section of the Quetico Provincial Park completing 175 feet of "turnpike" in the Jesse to Maria lake portage. This work was critical given the extremely poor condition of this portage.

The OA Wilderness Voyage and Canadian Odyssey programs trained all 163 participants in wilderness first aid and Leave No Trace, with several participants qualifying as Leave No Trace Trainers.

Maury Clancy American Indian Campership Fund

This fund was created in 1971 to assist American Indian Scouts attend resident camp. The fund is named in memory of long-time national committee member Maury Clancy, who made substantive contributions to the OA. Mr. Clancy emphasized the significance of our nation's American Indian culture and worked to encourage the preservation of our American Indian heritage.

The fund supported 136 Scouts representing nine councils by providing camperships totaling $15,207 in 2010. Since 2000 more than 1,900 American Indian Scouts have experienced a long-term summer camp through the benefit of this fund.

Lodges may contribute to this fund through their Section, thereby increasing the fund and enabling more camperships to be awarded.

2010 National Scout Jamboree

In celebration of the 100th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, 43,434 Scouts and leaders gathered at Fort A.P. Hill from July 26th through August 4th for the 2010 National Scout Jamboree. This one-of-a-kind, flagship event of the Boy Scouts of America showcased everything that is great about the BSA and its members. The Order of the Arrow continued its legacy of service to the jamboree through four programs: The Mysterium Compass, PACEsetters, American Indian Village and the OA Service Corps.

The Mysterium Compass:

The 2010 National Scout Jamboree was infused with a “heightened reality” of intrigue, mystery and adventure thanks to an all new, exciting experience - The Mysterium Compass.

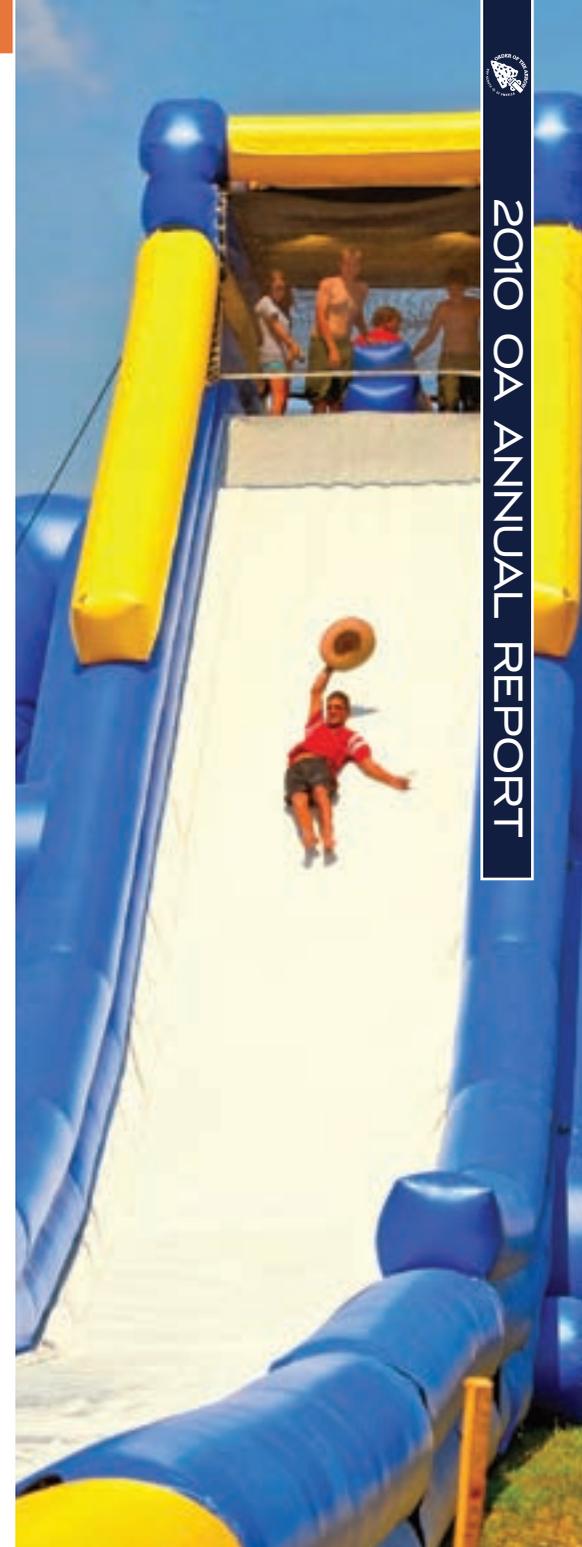

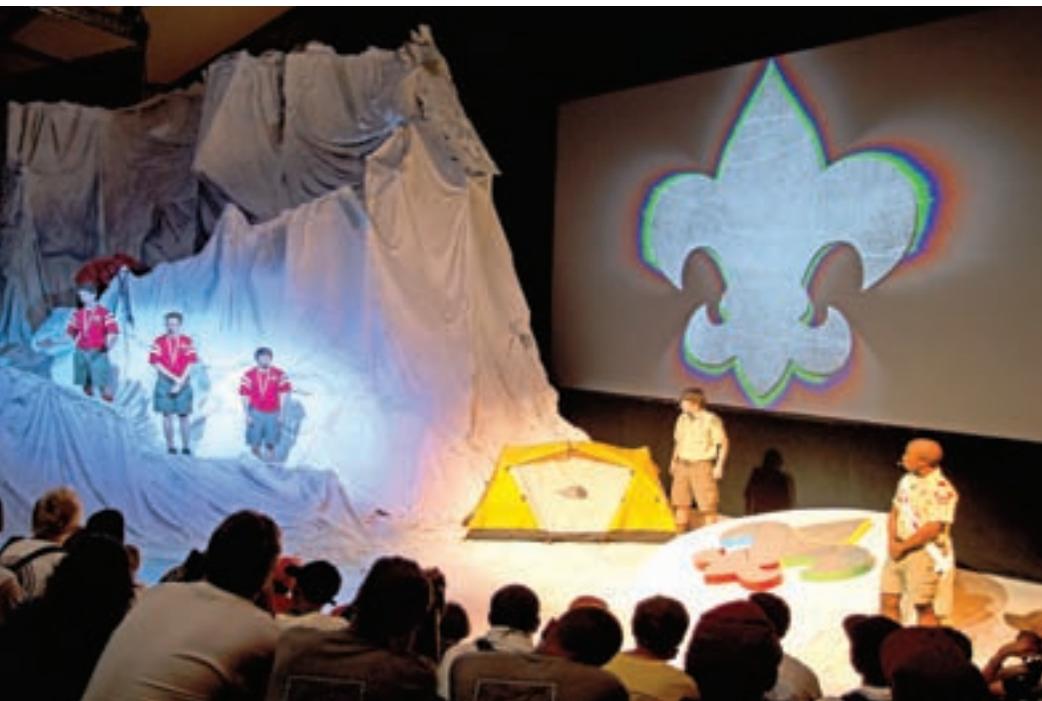

With more than 175 individual start times, in excess of twenty thousand Scouts experienced The Mysterium Compass over the 10 days of the Jamboree. The experience was absorbing and interactive with loads of stimulating fun and ethical encounters designed to test a Scout’s cool under pressure and powers of observation while blending life-lessons with improvisational actors, theatrical props and special effects. Each Scout who successfully navigated The Mysterium Compass received a collectible gift as a reminder of both the experience and the role Scouting's values can play in guiding their everyday lives.

At the conclusion of the experience, all Scouts left The Mysterium Compass cool and collected – having had an opportunity to tackle one of two enormous water slides towering over four stories high. The Order of the Arrow also partnered with the Scouting Century Foundation to conceive and create The Mysterium Compass Vault which was open to all attendees of the National Scout Jamboree. The Vault combined millions of dollars in privately held art and artifacts, to tell the rich and dynamic story of Scouting's first century to a new generation of Americans. Thousands of guests poured into the Vault daily to explore, learn and travel through Scouting's past while thinking about the role they play in its future.

American Indian Village:

Since 1989, the OA has showcased American Indian material culture, music and dance through the American Indian Village and pow wow style dances at the National Scout Jamboree. The 2010 American Indian Village had 61 staff members, of which seven of the youth staff were members of an American Indian tribe.

The American Indian Village consisted of five vignettes, each based upon a geographic region of the country and designed to showcase the daily life, music, dance, games, food, and material culture of the tribes who lived within that region. Daily discussions, games, demonstrations, crafts, dancing, and workshops took place throughout the Jamboree. Through the generous support of the Seminole Tribe of Florida, the program included the Village Activity Card (VAC) which allowed Scouts who participated in various activities throughout the village to earn a special recognition patch. The VAC patch was awarded to 4,800 Scouts who completed the program; thousands more took part in the program but did not complete all the requirements. 330 Scouts completed the Indian Lore Merit Badge as part of VAC program.

Pow wow style dances were held three times during the National Scout Jamboree, each attracted over 300 dancers in appropriate American Indian dance outfits and in excess of 1,500 spectators. These dances were also host to special guest, teenage singing sensation, Tori Osceola.

PACEsetters:

In conjunction with the Boy Scouts of America's larger all-out health and wellness initiative, the PACEsetters program was created to fulfill a need to educate Scouts on personal fitness and accountability for their health at the 2010 National Scout Jamboree. PACEsetters is an acronym for the overall program: Personal, Accountability and Commitment to Excellence.

More than 3,000 Scouts took part in some portion of the PACEsetters program; 960 participants completed the program earning the Personal Fitness Merit Badge, completed a series of interactive challenges which planted the seeds for a lifetime of health education, took part in the fitness-education trail, and gained a deeper understanding of how decisions will affect their overall health and wellness over their lifetime.

Through the fitness-education trail signs nearly every Scout and Scouter at the Jamboree was exposed to information designed to emphasize Personal Accountability and Commitment to Excellence in their health and fitness choices.

An entirely new aspect of American history and the interaction between American Indians and our nation's early explorers was added to the American Indian Village through a partnership with the Louis & Clark Trail Heritage Foundation (LCTHF). Through this partnership a sixth vignette was established, staffed by 11 volunteer historical interpreters from the LCTHF, who showcased the Corps of Discovery's voyage across the western US from 1804 to 1806. This vignette with its four educational areas had more than 10,000 visitors during the Jamboree. LCTHF chapters from across the country donated funds to support this interpretive program, which was entirely funded through the Louis & Clark Trail Heritage Foundation.

OA Service Corps:

In the 60th year since the Order of the Arrow first provided a OA Service Corps to a National Scout Jamboree, the OA fielded its largest Service Corps ever at the 2010 Jamboree. The 2010 OA Service Corps was comprised of 179 dedicated Arrowmen, organized as a lodge with six chapters. Jamboree vice chief Will Scott served as lodge chief of the OA Service Corps, and Will Leet served as lodge vice chief. Other section chiefs provided leadership to each of the OA Service Corps chapters and to the logistics and program functions. Brandon Azoulaï's logistics team received service requests from throughout the Jamboree and made daily work project assignments.

Projects varied widely and included leading conservation work, conducting surveys in preparation for the 2013 Jamboree, assisting with The Mysterium Compass, handling crowd control and program support at numerous events, ushering at the arena shows, and distributing more than 554,000 bottles of water. The Service Corps exceeded its goals by providing 11,196 man-hours of service, the most ever provided by the OA to a Jamboree. The 2010 Jamboree OA Service Corps added another chapter to the OA's distinguished history of service to the National Scout Jamboree.
